EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

- Replace the title of the invention with the following, "MEMORY ACCESS WITH CONSECUTIVE ADDRESSES CORRESPONDING TO DIFFERENT ROWS".

Authorization for the following examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with David Dolezal (#41,711) on March 29, 2007.

- [See Attached.]

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
  - (a) The restriction requirement is withdrawn due to the amendment to claim 6 requested by the examiner and attached hereto.
  - (b) The most relevant reference of record is Sakui et al., cited herewith.
  - (c) At first glance, it appears that the claims of the present invention differ from a typical page mode only in that the higher order bits of the invention are handled by the column address decoder instead of the row address decoder. Sakui et al. taught that the higher order bits of the invention are handled by the column address decoder instead of the row address decoder; note, e.g., column 2, lines 32-34, or column 3, lines 63-64, and elsewhere in the reference. However, applicant's invention differs in two aspects:
    - (1) All of applicant's claims are restricted to use on a non-volatile memory, whereas Sakui et al. is directed to a volatile memory, DRAM, and solves a similar, but slightly different problem; note column 6, lines 1-7.
    - (2) Applicant's claimed decoding requires consecutive addresses to correspond to different rows. Sakui et al. does not explicitly teach this feature. Consequently, claims 1-4, 6-10 and 12-37 are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
